CTA - FX positioning

CTAs' FX positioning (1)

Our Japan quantitative strategy team has developed a model to analyze commodity trading advisors' (CTAs) FX positioning. Our basic underlying assumption about the investment strategies employed by CTAs is that they build up long or short positions in various assets depending on whether prices for those assets are rising or falling. We compare the estimates output by our model with the actual performance record for CTAs for the sake of confirming reproducibility. The estimates of CTA positions output by our model rest entirely on publicly available information.

Conditional Formatting applied across rows, with larger values in the row being in green while lower values are in red.

Note: Average monthly rolldown calculated by deducting the current points of the tenor of the trade from the difference in points across the two tenors followed by dividing by current spot price and tenor of the shorter leg to obtain average monthly average rolldown in bp. Ann carry to vol calculated by annualizing the average monthly rolldown followed by dividing by the annualized volatility (126 session window) of the points corresponding to the tenor of the trade. Z-Score calculated by deducting the average spread (in pips) over the past 126 sessions from the current spread then dividing by the standard deviation (126 sessions) of the spread. We define best trades to be selling (buying) the spread as the trade with highest (lowest) values when selling the spread. Conditional Formatting applied across rows, with larger values in the row being in green while lower values are in red.

Certain securities are subject to fluctuations in exchange rates that could have an adverse effect on the value or price of, or income derived from, the investment.

With respect to Fixed Income Research: Recommendations fall into two categories: tactical, which typically last up to three months; or strategic, which typically last from 6-12 months. However, trade recommendations may be reviewed at any time as circumstances change. ‘Stop loss’ levels for trades are also provided; which, if hit, closes the trade recommendation automatically. Prices and yields shown in recommendations are taken at the time of submission for publication and are based on either indicative Bloomberg, LSEG or Nomura prices and yields at that time. The prices and yields shown are not necessarily those at which the trade recommendation can be implemented.

The securities described herein may not have been registered under the US Securities Act of 1933 (the ‘1933 Act’), and, in such case, may not be offered or sold in the US or to US persons unless they have been registered under the 1933 Act, or except in compliance with an exemption from the registration requirements of the 1933 Act. Unless governing law permits otherwise, any transaction should be executed via a Nomura entity in your home jurisdiction.
